

The Director's Pen

January 2013 Director's Pen

Welcome to a new year. With any new year come new challenges and new opportunities. We at Sanctuary Outpost are facing those day by day as the journey continues.

First, I'd like to thank the Lord for providing a new lynch-pin facility for CRM International. This facility will be located near Interstate 40 in Checotah, Oklahoma. From here, our team will establish our chaplain training facility, and locate the US offices for Life Borders International, our sister medical clinic and helps ministry, as well as Sanctuary Outpost, the International Division of CRM International. In addition, the mission will plant a new church which we have named "The Sycamores Community Church". The scripture verses that will define this church will be Luke 19:4-5.

The necessary filing of the church name with the Oklahoma Secretary of State has been completed and the address has been established with the United States Post Office. Initially, this new ministry will be a team effort. Chaplain from each of our CRM International divisions and Life Borders International will form the leadership team for this new location. The first chaplain training event has been scheduled for October 18th through the 21st of this year. There will be more on these kickoff events available on our web site soon. Please pray for our new ministry home and consider getting involved in the financing of the facility. We are praying for friends like you to come alongside us financially. You may give on our web page at www.sanctuaryoutpost.org

I'd like to update you on the work in the U.S. Virgin Islands. Chaplain Terry and Marta Lansdale will be leaving shortly to establish their home in the islands. They have raised their support and are lacking only their outgoing expenses. These expenses include shipping their belongings, their air fare, costs of establishing a home with all the attendant deposits, and the traditional first and last month's rent. When those monies arrive they will leave for the islands. We are looking forward to what God will do through them in coming months. Please look at the videos of this new church start on the "Trade Winds" page.

I'd like to leave you with some prayer requests for this New Year.

1. Pray for the necessary travel documents needed for several of our mission team. Foreign documents are an adventure.
2. Pray for resources for our new headquarters both human and financial.
3. Pray for travel mercies for our multi-mission team as we relocate.
4. Pray for converts and disciples for Jesus in this New Year.
